

DAUGHTERS OF CABINET MEMBERS.

MISS PAULINE MORTON.

Youngest Daughter of the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Paul Morton.

MISS ENID SHAW.

Eldest Daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Leslie M. Shaw.

MRS. W. CHAPMAN POTTER.

Eldest Daughter of the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Paul Morton.

MISS ANNE HITCHCOCK.

Eldest Daughter of the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Ethan Allan Hitchcock.

WHILE socially there has been little doing in Washington for some time past but marrying and giving in marriage, and engaging transportation to summer resorts and closing up houses, the past week has been full of lively anticipation over the expected arrival of the new Cabinet members and their wives. Like many another hope, however, the gratification of polite curiosity must wait until next fall, for neither Mrs. Morton, the wife of the newly appointed Secretary of the Navy, nor Mrs. Metcalf, the wife of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, has arrived. Their husbands came and were duly sworn in, Secretary Metcalf spending Friday night with the President at the White House, while Secretary Morton took quarters at one of the hotels.

None of the new members of the Cabinet have made definite plans for next season, but it is likely that the world social will enjoy the novelty of three new Cabinet homes, where hospitality will be dispensed to the fullest.

Mrs. Morton was frequently here when her father-in-law was Secretary of Agriculture, under the Cleveland Administration, and was a guest here last January, when she attended one of Mrs. Roosevelt's musicales, and was also a guest at a White House dinner. Mrs. Morton was Miss Charlotte Goodridge of Chicago, and with her sister was educated abroad. She is personally a most attractive woman, dressing well, and is highly cultured. She is said to have quite a fortune of her own.

Mrs. Metcalf is also fond of beautiful clothes, and is said to be the best dressed woman in official society. Before marriage, she was Miss E. Corinne Nicholson, of Oakland, Cal., and married Mr. Metcalf in her native town when he was a lawyer there, belonging to the firm of Metcalf & Metcalf. The Metcalfs are prohibitionists, and will serve no liquors.

Mrs. Taft, who will stand next in line to Mrs. Shaw, is also an attractive woman, and will bring new life into the home of the Secretary of War, which, like the home of the Secretary of the Navy, has been practically without a hostess for several years, as Mrs. Root, wife of the former Secretary, was in mourning.

With all these things to concern one, it is not strange, therefore, that Miss Roosevelt should have stolen quietly away from the White House the middle of the week, and before anyone knew where she had gone, turned out to be one of the most attractive and enthusiastic persons at the boat races at New London. There she wore a blue dress, a blue coat, and a blue hat, and cheered for Yale, with never a touch of Harvard crimson about her. Probably it just happened that way. Miss Roosevelt was the guest of Col. John J. McCook. From New London Miss Roosevelt went to Manchester, for a week's visit with the W. J. Boardmans, who have a magnificent estate, Wyndcliffe, on the Essex Road, not far from the Essex Country Club. Mr. and Mrs. Boardman gave a large dinner in Miss Roosevelt's honor last evening, and numerous other entertainments will be given for her. A number of Washington's smartest winter residents are spending the summer near the Boardmans.

Mrs. Cowles, sister of President Roosevelt, has taken a camp in the Upper St. Regis Lake Region, not very far from the Whitelaw Reids, and Miss Roosevelt, who formerly spent much of the summer with her aunt at Framingham, Conn., will devote her time to the more agreeable attractions of the Lake Region.

The first of the week will find most of the Cabinet homes permanently broken up until next fall, the families intending to take their departure this week. The Secretary of State and Mrs. Hay lead an ideal summer existence at The Fells, their home on Lake Sunapee, near Newbury, N. H. Their house is a two-story affair, with wide windows, wide gallery all around it, and is furnished and kept for comfort. There are none of the usual summer pests, such as flies, mosquitoes, or sightseers to molest the quiet of the modest house on Sunset Hill, and it is a curious fact that there are no screens at any of the windows or doors. Secretary Hay's son, Clarence Hay, and his two daughters, Mrs. Whitney and Mrs. Wadsworth, will spend a part of the summer with them, having, of course, their children, of whom the Secretary is very fond, to enliven the time.

While Secretary Shaw will leave Washington tonight accompanied by his two daughters, Miss Shaw and Miss Emma Shaw, for a prolonged trip in New England, and even extending to Canada, Mrs. Shaw will remain quietly at their home in Massachusetts Avenue with their son, Earl Shaw, who is connected with the Coast Survey. There are no special plans to disturb the family, and Mrs. Shaw, who never worries, finds life quite bearable here with long drives morning and evening, and a good book and bodily comfort all day.

Secretary Shaw will take his two daughters to visit all the scenes about his old New England home, which he loved as a boy, even to the country school house and the swimming hole remembered by a number of latter-day statesmen as the most delightful summer resort they ever visited in their lives. The party will spend some time at resorts in Canada, and will be absent from the Capital for several weeks.

Mrs. Taft and the Secretary are already fully and comfortably established at Murray Bay, Canada, where they have a cottage not far removed from the summer home of Justice Harlan. Secretary Taft and Justice Harlan have planned to enjoy at least two rounds of the golf links before breakfast each morning.

The Postmaster General and Mrs. Payne will tarry in the city longer than the other Cabinet members, and even when they leave, it is with the expectation of returning. They will go to some New England resort about July 12, and spend two weeks, returning to Washington to meet the President here July 28. Miss Jones, their niece, who spends the winter with them here, is at her home in Detroit.

Secretary and Mrs. Hitchcock will go to Dublin, N. H., the first of this week. Miss Hitchcock having opened their summer home some time ago. They will be a united family until the President's return gives the signal for all the Cabinet members to desert summer quarters and repair to the Capital.

Miss Wilson, daughter of the Secretary of Agriculture, is having the most delightful experience of any of the Cabinet women, and is just now touring Colorado in an automobile with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Walsh, those most delightful of Washington entertainers. With them she will spend some time at Colorado Springs.

President Roosevelt and his family are fully united at Sagamore Hill, their Oyster Bay home, and life there has assumed a strictly non-official phase. "Early to bed and early to rise," is the President's motto at his Long Island home, and though there are all-day visits between the President's family and the numerous relatives who live near by, early hours are observed and their lives are as simple as those of the farmers about them.

Cabinet Girls.

A delightful atmosphere of new life will be given the Cabinet family through the numerous changes made in that august body in the last few weeks, and it is hoped that the once pretty custom of all the Cabinet girls bringing up the rear of the official parade of the President and his suite at White House official functions will be revived.

There will be at least two new girls in the Cabinet ranks, the daughters of the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Morton, one of them a young matron, scarcely more than a girl, and the other, Miss Pauline Morton, a debutante of last season. These girls, with the really attractive daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Shaw, the two accomplished daughters of the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Hitchcock, and the older but equally attractive daughter of the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Metcalf, who, however, is reckoned among the Cabinet hostesses, as she fills that official position for her father, will make quite a formidable array to be considered and invited about by smart society people.

Both of the Morton girls are exceedingly pretty and attractive and quite accustomed to society. Like their mother, they have spent much time abroad and are cultivated linguists. Mrs. Potter is an attractive young matron, who will evidently come under that class of the younger set than the unmarried girls as an eligible chaperon.

Miss Morton graduated from Lake Forest Seminary, in Hyde Park, and is as agreeable as she is intelligent.

Miss Shaw is also a graduate and debutante of a year, and while she sometimes stood with her mother at receptions last winter, she was not formally presented as had been arranged, on account of the death of her father's brother. Miss Shaw is not a showy society girl, but has a composed, easy manner, and is a girl whom a man likes to sit next to at dinners, for she is exceedingly entertaining. Besides, there is not the least touch of the world-weary air about Miss Shaw, making her just as delightful to her elders.

The Misses Hitchcock have been in Washington society long enough to be familiar figures, but they are just as welcome now as they were their first season in Washington. They are fine linguists, both Miss Anne Hitchcock, the elder, and her exceedingly pretty younger sister, Miss Margaret Hitchcock. They have been presented at court, and enjoyed court life at St. Petersburg.

Miss Wilson, daughter of the Secretary of Agriculture, is also well known in society, both official and private, here, but Miss Wilson is always classed among the Cabinet hostesses and not the Cabinet girls, though she enjoys equally the companionship of both.

Weddings.

Miss Mamie Elizabeth Schmidt and Thomas Griffin, Jr., assistant secretary to the Spanish treaty claims commission, were married at the parsonage of St. Matthew's Church, on Wednesday evening.

A reception at the home of the bride in Pomeroy Street followed the ceremony, the bride party being received by the Arlon Singing Society, of Washington, with the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March." Beautiful floral and flag decorations, with tables and chairs, converted the lawn into a pleasant outdoor reception place, and there the bride couple greeted their friends, and refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffin left Wednesday evening on a late train for Atlantic City, from which place they will go to the World's Fair at St. Louis.

The marriage of Capt. William H. Parker, U. S. M. C., and Miss Margaret Berry, daughter of Dr. John J. Berry, took place last evening at Christ Church, Portsmouth, N. H. Capt. Parker, U. S. M. C., was best man, and the ushers were First Lieutenants Frank E. Leonard and Berton W. Sibley, and Second Lieut. Albert N. Brunzell, of the Marine Corps, and Ensigns Adolphus Andrews, Rufus E. Manley and George C. Westcott, Assistant Surgeon Robert E. Hoyt and Passed Assistant Paymaster Frederick B. Colby, of the Army. Special full dress uniforms were worn.

Captain Leonard will visit at the home of Mrs. Cowles at Framingham, Conn., for a few days after the wedding.

Miss Edna Helene Baier and William H. Parker were married at noon Wednesday at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Barbara M. Baier, 917 F Street northwest, only members of the family and a few relatives being present. After the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Paul A. Menzel, of the Episcopal Church, a wedding breakfast was served, and Mrs. Parker will live in Washington upon their return from a wedding journey.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Law announced the marriage of their daughter, Daisy E. Law, to Conrad M. Chaney, June 23. Miss Beatrice Law and Myers Hand attended the young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Chaney will be at home to their friends at 615 Fourteenth Street northeast, after July 10.

Miss Mary Etta Julliard and Dr. Adrian Eugene Farrer were married at the home of the bride's sister in Chevy Chase, Wednesday evening. The Rev. Dr. Childs performing the ceremony. On account of the death of the bride's uncle the affair was very quiet. The bride is the youngest niece of A. D. Julliard, a millionaire of New York City. Her gown was a lovely creation of point d'esprit over chiffon and silk, and the veil used is an heirloom in her family. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The groom belongs to an old and aristocratic family of Paris, France. He is a resident of Indianapolis. Dr. and Mrs. Farrer will sail shortly for Europe.

Edmund A. Reith and Miss Melrose M. Suedman were quietly married at the Shrine of the Sacred Heart by the Rev. Father McJee, on Monday, June 27. Owing to a recent death in the bride's family the marriage ceremony was private.

After July 4, Mr. and Mrs. Reith will be at home to their friends at 711 F Street northwest.

Capon Springs, Va.

Capon Springs season opened yesterday with a touch and go seldom experienced there, and with the arrival of over a hundred guests, many of whom were from Washington, and Donch's Band, plans are rapidly being formulated for Germans, balls, domino parties, and other entertainments, until the outlook is the most brilliant ever seen there.

All of the cottages, as well as the hotel, are well filled up, and when the old-time custom of rounding up on the piazza for the arrival of the hacks takes place, one wonders where more people are to be cared for.

Among the latest arrival from Washington were Mrs. G. Wythe Cook, Thomas B. Clarkson, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Carusi, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Carusi, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Smith, Mrs. Victor Wyville, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Davidson, Miss Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Worthington, the Misses Worthington, and W. H. Burke.

Mrs. James Mackall and her daughter, Miss Daisy Mackall, entertained a party of ten at a delightful little supper Friday evening, given in the hotel annex, when their guests were Mrs. M. Burke, Miss Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Walnwright, Col. J. G. Hendrickson, and Lee M. Carpenter, all of Philadelphia; George Weggaman, of New York, and W. H. Burke, of Washington.

There was a jolly mule team ride Friday with Col. J. G. Hendrickson as host, which opened sport along that line for the season.

Old Point Comfort.

Among the distinguished visitors at the Chamberlin Hotel, Old Point, this week is H. Wrangle, the assistant Swedish consul, in Washington. Mr. Wrangle arrived at the Chamberlin on Tuesday, for a stay of ten days.

Other Washingtonians registered there during the week are A. B. Maynard, Jr., Mrs. Hochena, C. P. Huntington, Mrs. W. S. Harbau, S. C. Parks, Mrs. M. A. Gilpe, Miss Polly Mason, Frank H. Shippe, R. E. Sampson, Mrs. M. B. Schroeder, Miss Watts, James Courts, Mrs. Courts, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Finley.

At Sherwood Inn, Old Point, the following Washington people registered during the week: Dr. Martha C. Bennett, Miss W. Weddell, E. B. Diggs, and V. W. Stuffle.

Capt. and Mrs. W. J. Birch and Mr. and Mrs. William T. Norton, who have been visiting Captain and Mrs. C. J. Bonnevillie, in Hope Street, Hampton, Va., returned to their home here Friday.

Mrs. M. A. Franklin, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Warner, Miss Wagner, and Miss Alice Hancome, of Washington, are stopping at the Clay Inn, at Hampton, Va. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gummely and children, of Washington, have been the guests of friends on the Virginia peninsula this week.

Chit-Chat.

Sir Henry Mortimer Durand is enjoying to the fullest the air of the Berkshire Hills, and often, in company with his daughter, Miss Josephine Durand, or one of the secretaries of the embassy located at Lenox for the summer, he takes a ten-mile ride over the hills before breakfast.

Newport's newest sport is motor-boat sailing, and it will come in prominently this week.

SOMETHING FOR CHILDREN

To Keep Them Off the Streets and Improve Their Education.

PIANOS TO BE SUPPLIED

By the F. G. Smith Co. at Merely Nominal Figures for the Musical Advancement of the Young.

It is a problem during the vacation period to provide an amusement that will be attractive enough to keep the children off the streets and out of mischief. The F. G. Smith Piano Co., of 1274 Pa. ave., thinks they have a satisfactory solution of the difficulty. They have arranged to furnish square pianos to all parents who apply for them at merely the cost of cartage and repairs. The cost is a mere bagatelle and the piano will not only provide something to interest the children and keep them at home, but will also improve their minds and be the means of providing them with a musical education. The names of music teachers who will call at your home and give instruction to the children at nominal rates can be obtained by applying to this company, away—just as soon as you say the word. The waterworks will be closed July 1, but programs for the piano July 3, and the sooner you come the better selection you will have.

ly at the close of the coaching season, July 5, upon which date the Venture and the Viking will make their last runs to New York.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt has ordered one of the new boats, which was built for speed.

Among the people well known in Washington recreating at Hempstead, L. I., that charming unpretentious neighbor of Newport, are Mr. and Mrs. Payne Whitney, who are enjoying the home given them by Mr. Whitney's uncle at the time of their marriage. Mrs. Whitney is said to go in for gardening, and plants and cares for her own roses and other rare flowers.

Mrs. Horace Gray, wife of the late Justice of the Supreme Court, has left her summer home near Boston, and has taken a cottage at Harbor Springs, Mich., where she will remain until September. Mrs. Gray's beautiful hospitality while in Washington distinguished her as one of the most popular women of the Supreme Court family.

Ex-President and Mrs. Grover Cleveland will soon forsake Buzzard's Bay for the summer, and have leased the old Wells' residence in Sandwich, N. H. The place, which commands a fine view of Chocoma, Passaconaway, Whiteface, and other mountain peaks, was built in 1729 by Silas Frye. The house has many of its original features, such as cupboards, big fireplaces, with cranes, and even the hooks in the ceilings where former owners were wont to hang hams still remain.

Mrs. Cleveland's love of antiques is well known, for she was the purchaser of many rare treasures of historic value sold at the auction from the White House, just before she went to Princeton to live, and her residence in that place is a veritable museum of antiques.

Col. Louis F. Siebert and Mrs. Siebert are among the Washingtonians at the Berkeley-Waltona, Richmond Springs, for the summer.

Among the large company of American women presented at the Queen's drawing room by Mrs. Choate, wife of the American ambassador, Wednesday, Mrs. O'Shaughnessy, wife of the secretary of the American legation at Copenhagen, who, with her husband, spent part of last winter here as the guest of William Barrett Ridgely, Controller of the Currency.

Mr. and Mrs. William Leeb, Jr., left Washington yesterday morning with the President's party, and will spend the summer at Oyster Bay. Mr. Barnes, the second secretary, also accompanied the party, Mrs. Barnes going to Pen-Mar, Pa., where she will spend the summer.

Lieut. Col. H. G. Cavenaugh, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Cavenaugh, announced the engagement of their daughter Marie to Lieut. Seth Williams Cook, Tenth Cavalry. The wedding will take place in September.

Mrs. Sigbee, wife of Rear Admiral C. L. Sigbee, U. S. N., has left for Hempstead, L. I., where she will spend the summer. Mrs. Sigbee will have with her for the summer her daughters, Mrs. J. J. Kerr, of New York, and Mrs. Robert Small, of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wentworth left Washington yesterday for Boston, where, after a few days' visit, they will join Mr. Wentworth's family at their

New England home, remaining for some weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Corry M. Stadden have gone to St. Louis, where they will attend both the Democratic convention and the Exposition.

Col. Clarence Edwards, who returned to Washington recently from Cleveland, Ohio, where he went to visit his mother, who is ill, returned to Washington, and has now gone for a visit to Niagara Falls.

Miss Connor has gone to Leavenworth, Kan., as the guest of Lieutenant and Mrs. Carson. Her hosts have entertained a number of times in her honor since her arrival there, giving a supper after the military hop Friday evening.

Miss Gertrude Wythe will spend the month of July as the guest of her cousin, Miss Houston, daughter of Representative H. A. Houston, of Delaware, and with them will go to Ocean City for the remainder of the summer.

Gen. James Oakes, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Oakes left Washington last week, and will spend the summer at Narragansett Pier, where they will be joined later in the season by their daughter, Mrs. H. L. Valentine.

Major and Mrs. Chauncey Baker have been entertaining for the past week Lieut. and Mrs. Frederick L. Perry, who came up from Fort Monroe, Va.

Miss Brooks left Washington last week for St. Louis, accompanied by Gen. J. H. Wilson, U. S. A., retired, where she joined her father, Capt. John C. W. Brooks, field artillery, who is stationed at Fort Riley.

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Lancaster, Charles C. Lancaster, his three boys, Randall, Calvert, and George, with his niece, Miss Elise L. Peyton, went to Baltimore, today, and will take the steamer down the bay to Rock Hall, their old plantation home, in southern Maryland, for a two weeks' outing. They are accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Howard S. Reed, who will take the through trip to Washington.

Gen. E. A. Carr, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Carr, have been at West Point for a week, but have now gone to Hagen-on-Lake George, N. Y.

Mrs. John Howell, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Ethel Howell, and her sister, Mrs. W. A. Morton, has gone to Atlantic City for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chandler are spending a month in the mountains of North Carolina and Tennessee.

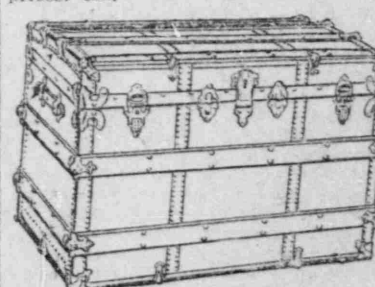

TYPEWRITERS' UNION.

The typewriters girls who are organized a trades union in New York have objects of which typewriter girls everywhere will heartily approve. The average stenographer nowadays, they say, gets only about $1 or $2 a week, no matter how expert she may be. They intend to see that beginners shall get that much, and qualified stenographers about $15. Then there's the question of hours. Some typewriter girls have to work from 8 in the morning until 8 or 7 at night. They want the hours to be from 9 till Vacation Footwear.

These are busy days at Rich's. And yet as great as the demand is for footwear for wear while away at seashore, mountains, or countryside, you are served promptly and satisfactorily. Ample salespeople are here who take pleasure in showing you the immense assortment and fitting you correctly, and all are experts in their lines.

Particularly, if you have been buying footwear elsewhere, you will be amazed at the variety we show of footwear especially made for the different sorts of wear to which you give them. There is special footwear here for the seaside for men and women which are proof against the ravages of salt water. There are special shoes here for yachting, for tennis playing, and a full complement of styles for horseback riding, hunting, and shooting. For dress occasions you'll find here the "correct" fashions in ladies' buckskin, oze, suede, and Paris Kid oxfords and pumps in the pretty "Colonial" styles. And dozens of effects in tan calf and patent leather.

Special attention is directed to the footwear especially adapted for wear while viewing the world's fair—combining comfort and exclusive style—and you must realize that the pleasure of such a trip is marred by uncomfortable shoes.

Just now the mail order department is busy supplying footwear to those already out of town, and we advise you to leave the correct measurements of your foot before you leave whether or not you expect to order while away. Perfect satisfaction is assured.
